POINTILLISM

What is pointillism? Read this short definition and try to paint the Eiffel Tower, and an umbrella in Seurat's style!

Pointillism is a neo-impressionist technique painting style, in which artists use small dots of colour that blend together into a picture and when viewed from a distance create lights and shadows effects. (Os artistas deste movimento pictórico Neo-impressionista, usaban pequenos pontos de cor, e ao mirar a obra de arte desde unha distancia parecen mesturarse de tal xeito que crean un efecto de unidade e profundidade con luces e sombras). Georges Seurat is often credited with originating the style, which was also practised by many other artist, for example Maximilien Luce, Paul Signac, Camille Pissarro and even Vincent van Gogh.

GEORGES SEURAT

- Born in 1859 in Paris, France
- Founder of Pointillism
- Died of a sickness in 1891 at the age 32.
- Influenced art and artists with the great style he created in just a short career.

Georges Seurat

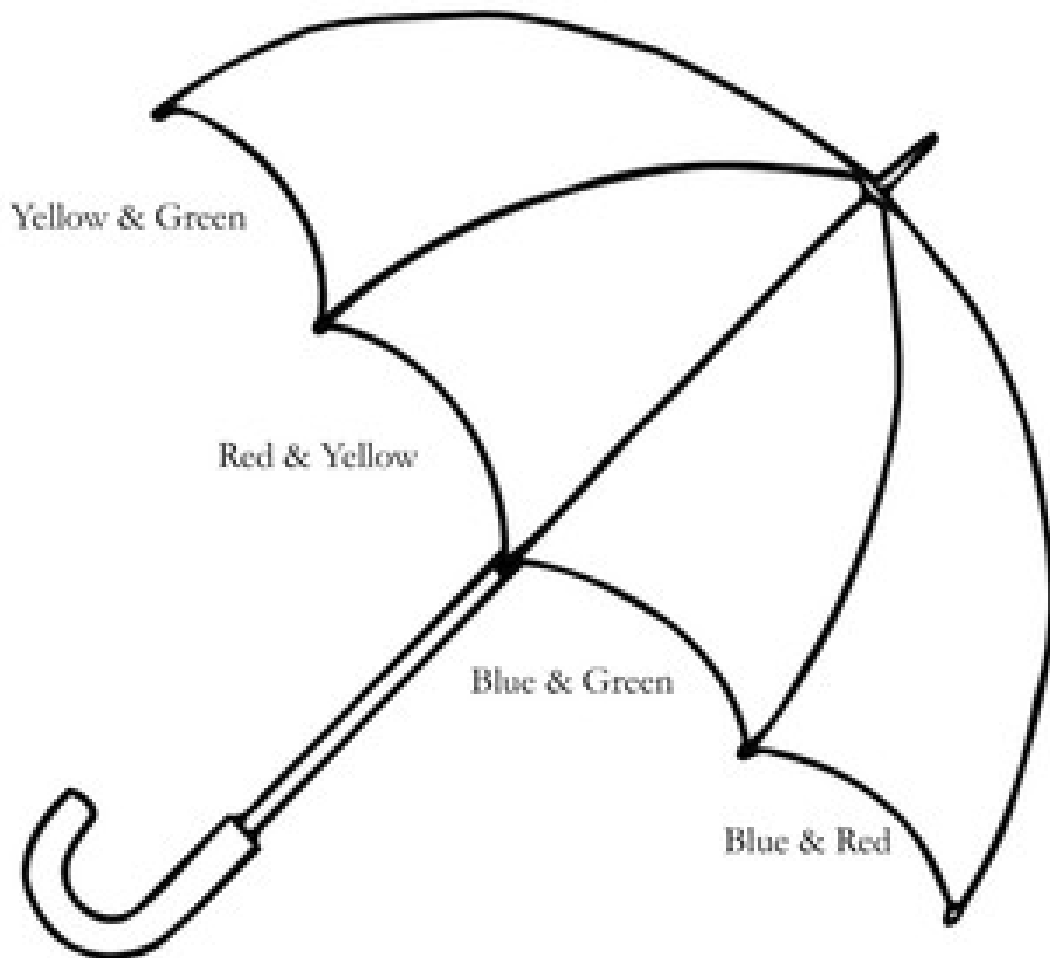

ACTIVITY 1. Now try to draw and paint the Eiffel Tower in Seurat's style, POINTILLISM. You can use felt- tip pens (or if you prefer it crayons or coloured pencils, or acrylic paint!) Here you are an example. You can choose another colours and try to do it by using small dots.

ACTIVITY 2. Here you are another example to paint. You can draw an umbrella and paint it in POINTILLISM STYLE. Use the colours you like!

Seurat Umbrella

Many umbrellas can be seen in Seurat's famous painting 'A Sunday Afternoon at the Island of La Grande Jatte'. In the umbrella above paint dots of colour in the sections and see how the different colours mix.

TO LEARN MORE ABOUT SEURAT'S PAINTINGS

Pay attention to this painting by Georges Seurat which is painted in small dots and mixing different tones and colours, and so when we watch this work of art, our eyes can see forms, lights and shadows...

(Fíxate neste cadro pintado por GEORGES SEURAT, que está pintado con pequenos puntos e mezclando diferentes tonalidades o que fai que o noso ollo, cando mira esta obra de arte, forme as figuras, as luces, as sombras...)

Have a look at some examples in POINTILLISM STYLE. If you have free time you can practise!

NOTA IMPORTANTE:

Debedes ler con atención o que escribin sobre o Puntillismo. É unha técnica pictórica moi interesante

Bota unha ollada aos dous vídeos (os enlaces están na cabeceira da páxina)

Despois tedes 2 actividades para facer:

ACTIVIDADE 1: Debuxar a torre Eiffel, mirade polo exemplo que vos envío. Despois con pequenos puntos ir coloreando empregando os puntos e as cores ao voso estilo puntillista. Fíxadevos que nos lugares de sombra os puntos van máis xuntos e adoitan ter tonalidades máis oscuras.

ACTIVIDADE 2:

Debuxar un paraugas e colorealo coa mesma técnica puntillista.

Podedes facer as actividades en láminas de debuxo, ou se non tedes pola casa, podedes facelas en folios. Os rotuladores son bos para facer esta técnica porque imaxino que na casa non teredes o material de debuxo (acrílicos, pinceis...) . Se os tedes na casa e vos apetece podedes empregalos pero senón cos rotuladores ou ceras brandas queda moi ben.
