

Once upon a time, the 3 wise men arrived at the North Pole, Santa Claus's house. They came with their camels and pets: rabbit and fox.

- Knock, knock, knock – on the door.

An elf comes to open it.

Elf: Hello your Majesties! Do you have an invitation?

3 Kings: No, we have bad news instead. There's an emergency!

Elf: What kind of emergency?

3 Kings: There are no more gingerbread men nor angel ornaments left.

Elf: Oh no! I will have to call Santa Claus!

SC: Ho, ho ho! Hello my dear friends- don't worry, Rudolf will take the gingerbread men and angel ornaments to your dining room in Castriz.

The next morning everything is ready and loaded on the sleigh. The cookies are excited but the angels are nervous for the journey.

GB: Where are we going?

A: We are going to Castriz!

GB: Where is that?

A: Didn't you look at the map?

GB: No! I was busy cooking in the oven so I could be nice and crunchy.

A: Well, it is in Santa Comba, in Galicia.

R: Santa Claus, can we get going?

SC: I think so!

Sleigh: Oof! No way – this is too much weight for me to carry!

SC: Let's go to Castriz!

(They fly away)

Fox: What are you doing here?

Rab: didn't you know that the angels and gingerbread are missing?

Fox: Maybe you can put everything next to the snowman and the Christmas tree.

Rab: Let's get to work! We need to bring everything to the workshop!

Fox + Rab: This is a lot of work, can you help us?

SM + CT: Our pleasure! (They bring everything inside)

The work finishes. The 3 kings invite the CT, SM, and the pets to eat wat all of the Christmas treats.
