

Blockade	It is an effort to cut off supplies, war material or communications from a particular area by force, either in part or totally.
Domino theory	It was a theory prominent from the 1950s to the 1980s, that speculated that if one country in a region came under the influence of communism, then the surrounding countries would follow in a domino effect. The domino theory was used by successive United States administrations during the Cold War to justify the need for American intervention around the world.
Duties	Taxes imposed by law on the import or export of goods
Iron Curtain	political, military, and ideological barrier erected by the Soviet Union after World War II to seal off itself and its dependent eastern and central European allies from open contact with the West and other noncommunist areas.
McCarthyism	name given to the period of time in American history that Senator Joseph McCarthy produce a series of investigations and hearings during the 1950s in an effort to expose supposed communist infiltration of various areas of the U.S. government. The term has since become a byname for defamation of character or reputation by means of widely publicized indiscriminate allegations, especially on the basis of unsubstantiated charges.
Napalm	Napalm is a flammable liquid used in warfare
Racial segregation	It is the separation of humans into ethnic or racial groups in daily life. It may apply to activities such as eating in a restaurant, drinking from a water fountain, using a public toilet, attending school, going to the movies, riding on a bus, or in the rental or purchase of a home or of hotel rooms
Satellite States	designates a country that is formally independent in the world, but under heavy political, economic and military influence or control from another country