Dalloway Hill Community Newsletter

Congratulations Adam Taylor on a surprise victory against the Southern Karate League champion Simon Bard. Adam defeated him after an exciting match, and the new champion is now preparing for the under 18s international tournament this December. Our community sports centre has got an active martial arts community. There is an under 18s karate class every Tuesday between 5.00 and 7.00 pm, and we are planning to open an additional adults' judo class on Thursday evenings at the same time. The reduced price for new participants is £150 for the first month.

The Drama Society is organising its annual Shakespeare festival. We've got some wonderful actors and a popular celebrity playing the lead role. But, we are still looking for costume designers. Are you creative? Have you got experience designing outfits? Send two examples of your designs to Maria: 07753 046305. Famous actors and directors come from all over the country to the festival, so it's a good opportunity for young designers.

Finally, Dalloway Hill Community Sports Centre is organising its first lifeguard course. Candidates must pass a swimming test before taking the course. The certification takes 14 weeks to complete. The course includes 16 hours in the classroom and 18 hours in the swimming pool. There are five hours of online learning before the face-to-face lessons start. Please note that all lifeguard diplomas are valid for two years.

2. Read the messages from some friends in a youth orchestra. Then answer the questions that follow.

The image shows a screenshot of a text message conversation on a mobile phone. At the top, there is a status bar with signal strength, Wi-Fi, and battery icons. Below that is a header for the 'Greenhill Youth Orchestra' with a violin icon and a speech bubble icon. The messages are as follows:

Joe: Hi, everyone! I saw a wonderful documentary about a musician called Ruth Boden. She goes hiking with her cello and plays it in the countryside. Maybe we can do something similar this summer.
6.15 pm

Kate: How about a trip in September? The weather is cooler then. I think when you play music outside, it sounds better than in concert halls.
6.17 pm

Joe: Exactly! Ruth realised that too. She started going on short hikes with her cello, giving concerts in nature. At times, there weren't any people there, just the rocks and the trees.
6.20 pm

Gemma: I'm sorry, Joe, but there's no way I'm taking my trumpet on a day's hike. Do you know how much it costs!? 🙄
6.23 pm

Joe: Actually, I was thinking of something longer. Ruth Boden wanted to go hiking along the Appalachian Trail, but she was always busy. Then she met Gavin. He wanted to make a documentary about her, so they took a trip in the Wallowa Mountains in Oregon. They hiked up a mountain, and Ruth gave a performance on the top of it.
6.28 pm

Pete: Don't worry, Gemma. I've got a better idea for a concert. Last year, I saw a video clip about a British orchestra. They performed on a stage in a swimming pool. Anyway, I'm not sure I can take all my drums on a hike. 😊
6.31 pm

Jamie: My flute doesn't weigh a lot, Pete – I'll take one of your drums in my bag! 😊
6.34 pm
