

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WOMEN IN ARABIC COUNTRIES

Sergio López, Antía Ledo, Samuel Porto and Miriam Lago

THE ISLAM

The Koran states that men and women are not equal, it also says that "men are the protectors and providers of women"

It presents two visions regarding the role of women. Both emphasize the equality of women and men before God and place women under the care of men.

SOME EXAMPLES OF DISCRIMINATION

SUFFERED BY WOMEN ARE:

- Women cannot leave the house without their husband's permission.
- They cannot marry a man who is not a muslim but men can marry any woman.
- Men can marry up to 4 women at the same time.

- Women cannot enter cemeteries.
- Women must be covered so that nothing can be seen, exposing only their faces.
- The man can recriminate his wife, even with physical punishment.

- Her testimony in a trial is worth half that of a man.
- Custody of the children belongs to the father from an early age.
- Daughters receive half of the inheritance that corresponds to their brothers.

Women do not choose whom to marry, sometimes they have to marry
when they are minors.

Women do not have the right
to drive

If ever a woman
does not follow any of these prohibitions, she can be punished.

As you can see, even if they have the concept of equality in their constitutions, women face legal forms of discrimination in all aspects.

Many times, women don't know their rights because there are high rates of illiteracy.

In addition, they are affected by regional factors such as the emergence of Islamic extremism.

ILLEGAL SALE OF WOMEN

Muslim women 'put up for sale'

Some girls are being victimized by rich Saudi men.

For example, recently there has been an advertisement for the sale of girls for the price of nine thousand dollars. This happens because for many families living in refugee camps, selling their daughters is the only way to survive.

They also try to sell the virginity of some girls

The woman has been charged with human trafficking and sexual exploitation.

As we see in this news, a woman in Sharjah tried to sell the virginity of her minor daughter in exchange for thousands of dollars and a gold necklace.

SALE OF WOMEN IN EXCHANGE OF CAMELS

In the past, women were valued on camels, and it keeps happening, for example, in countries like India or Saudi Arabia, a woman costs around 10 camels.

After the exchange, the girl becomes the property of the buyer.

THE FOOTBALL WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

It will be in Qatar, one of the countries with more discrimination against women. This football world championship, which will take place in November, has created a lot of debates about women's discrimination because of the country. People say that this football world championship encourages women's discrimination.
